ADMINISTRATORS

William Yankee
Dean of Academic Affairs

Delta administration was strengthened this year by the appointment of five new people and the delegation of new responsibility to a Delta administrator. New to Delta are: Mr. William J. Yankee, Dean for Academic Affairs; Mr. Stephen Konowalow, Director of Student Activities; Mr. Ellsworth Duguid, Director of Placement and Cooperative Education; Mr. Martin P. Wolf, Director of Governmental Programs, and Mr. Karl Dubois, Director of Community Relations. Mr. Palmer Kern, former Director of Placement and Cooperative Education, was named Dean of Students.

These appointments round out Delta's administrative staff and combine with existing personnel to provide students mature, dynamic leadership.

Palmer Kern
Dean of Student Affairs

HUMANITIES deepen the roots of life

Education is more than just "course work"; its aim should be to develop the whole person. This purpose provides the basis for a Humanities division. Here students are given the opportunities to explore the various fields of learning which enable them to become real human beings and lead full and meaningful lives. This is the goal toward which the Humanities faculty strives.

TECHNICAL DIVISION for skills that keep industry progressing

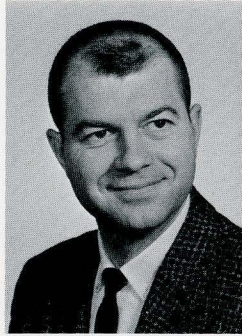

George Pease
Technical Division Chairman

An engineering technician is one whose education and experience qualify him to work in the field of engineering technology. He differs from a craftsman in his knowledge of scientific and engineering theory and methods, and from an engineer in his more specialized background and in his use of technical skills in support of engineering activities.

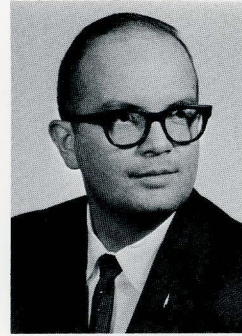

The technical division makes Delta students must be made aware of the opportunities presented to them by the existence of our high-level technical curricula. These are not dead-end programs, but are programs that make it possible to continue study in a chosen field to meet the ever changing demands of our technical society.

SOCIAL STUDIES

explores man's mores

The purpose of a Social Science Division is two-fold: to teach the students of Delta College about the relationships and problems involved in being good citizens in our society; to motivate students to be more aware of the world around them and the ways in which they can effectively utilize the principles which they learn.

BUSINESS builds skills

The Business Division provides prevocational and pre-professional education in office and distributive pursuits. Students and faculty work together in developing business skills, knowledges, concepts, and principles in preparation for adapting to a world of change. Emphasis is placed on stimulating the thought processes for making wise decisions, and at the same time creating a climate for understanding social and economic responsibilities and ethical conduct which accompany the rights of an individual. Students are encouraged to acquire cooperative work experience while following the particular curriculum of his choice.

MATHEMATICS provides order

The aim of the Mathematics Division at Delta College is to help students acquire mathematical knowledge and skills. The Division provides the knowledge of number which students need as they pursue general education, occupational or transfer programs.

NURSING

science and skill

The Division of Nursing is an integral part of Delta College. It shares the objectives of the college in developing positive contributions to the general welfare of society. The division strives to prepare selected men and women to function effectively as members of the health team. The objectives of the division are to assist the student nurse to: develop the basic knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary for the care of the patient; develop and use the skills in critical and constructive thinking; develop the effective use of communication skills; develop an awareness of community problems.

The Nursing Division believes that students should actively participate in the Delta College community and contribute to the ongoing activities of the student body. The students follow a rigorous curriculum in order to develop and become skilled, safe practitioners of nursing. Thus, they must be dedicated and committed to upgrading the health care of the community.

The Delta College Division of Nursing hopes to contribute in a small way in meeting the health care needs of the nation.

IMPROVEMENT

step stone to progress

Carl Hendershot
Coordinator Improvement Division

Enhancing success in college studies is the purpose of Improvement Division services at Delta. By extending opportunities to acquire prerequisite knowledge and skills, these courses enable a student to progress toward success in his chosen field.

Individually paced instructional materials facilitate the rapid completion of required course work and permit flexibility in meeting the varying needs of individual students.

Anthony Quintero, Carol Meyers, Howard Nugent, Rosa Morales, Pat Werner.

Ahmed Biabani, President.

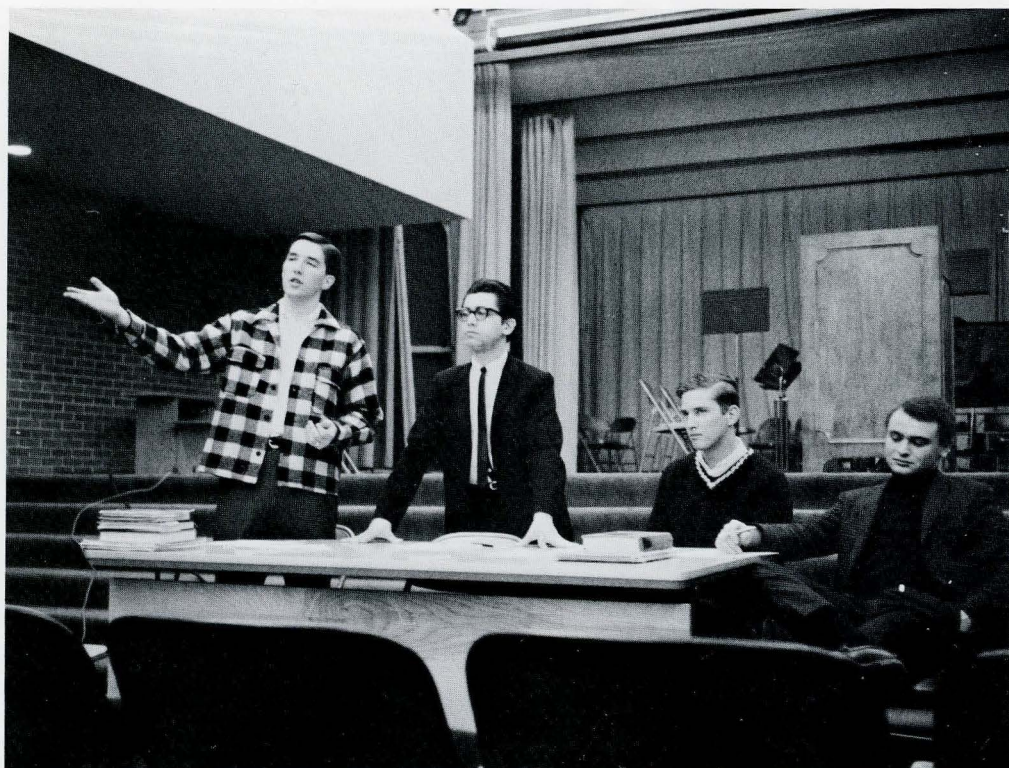

Twenty-two speakers from twenty-two countries as widely spread as Poland and the Philippines, Iran, Columbia and Pakistan were featured at International Club meetings this year. Climax of the club activities was planning of a European trip. Nineteen people bent on tasting the culture of such countries as England, Switzerland, Germany, the Netherlands, Monoco and Italy were planning to leave in July for a three-week trip.

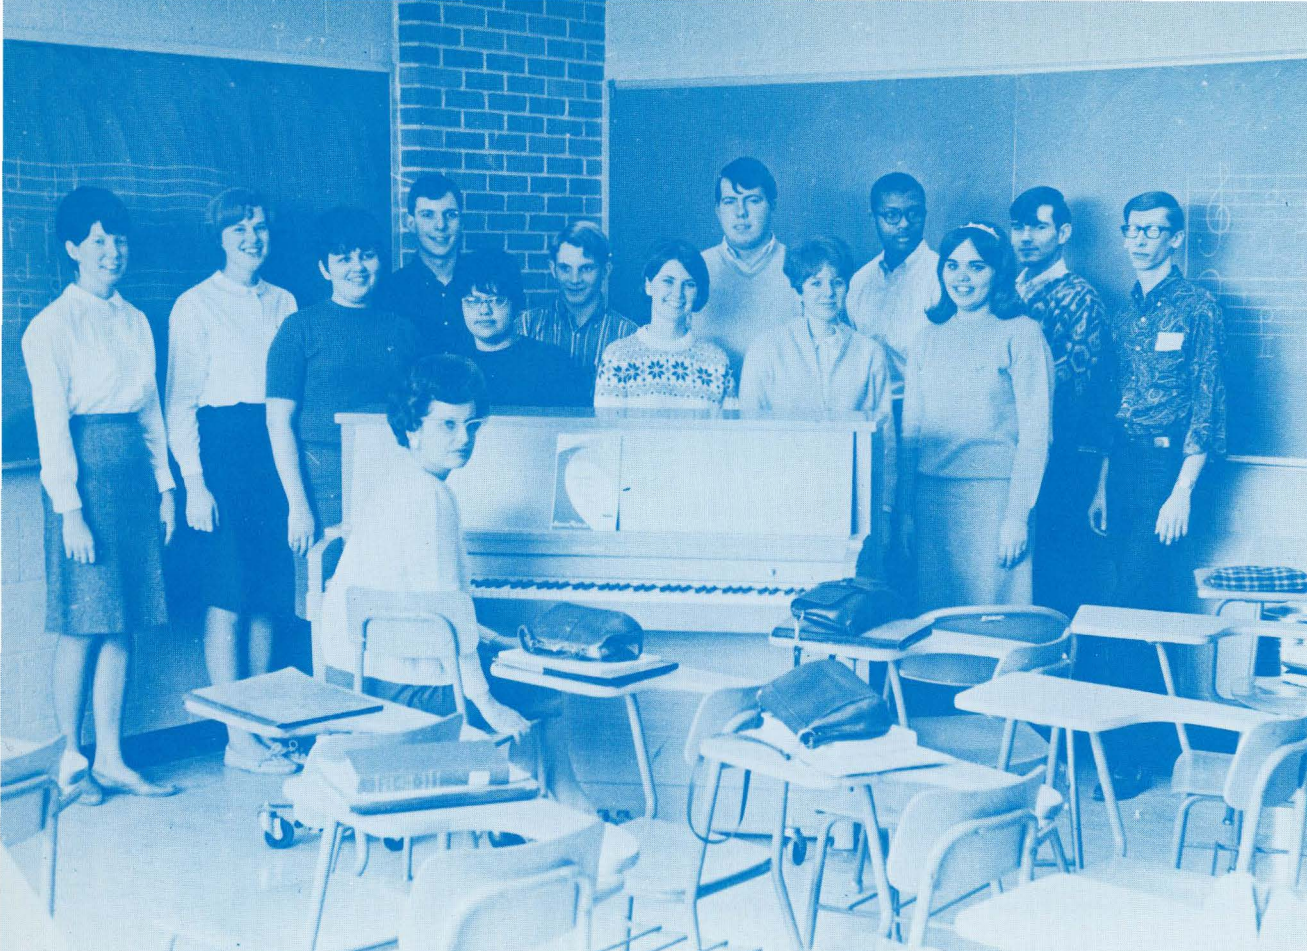

Mr. Charles Hooks, speaking on academic freedom.

In tune with the trend on most campuses, Delta found need and means of expression. Formally arranged Speak Outs were staged by common effort of the Wesley Foundation, The Newman Club, and the Delta College Christian Fellowship. Other evidences of student involvement in local and world affairs were seen in demonstrations, for and against one thing and another, in the editorial columns of the Collegiate and heard in conversations in the commons and wherever students congregated.

Fall and Winter Co-Editors of the Collegiate were Dave Short and Tom Ferguson. Spring Editor is Larry Crotzer.

THE DELTA COLLEGIATE

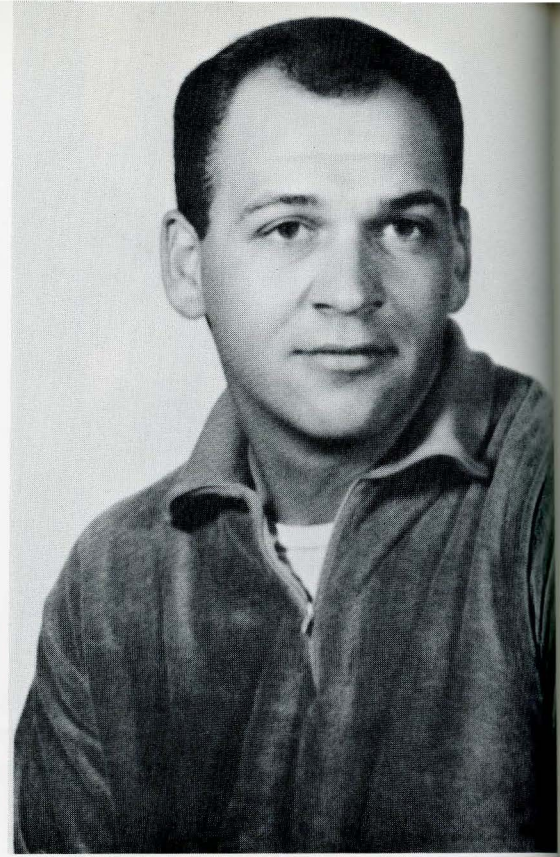

The Delta Collegiate has become a listened-to voice on campus this year. An expanded staff of dedicated reporters, artists and photographers has resulted in more timely and complete news coverage, greater variety in features and artwork and lively editorial expressions.

Ray McInerney, head photographer for Collegiate and Gnosis.

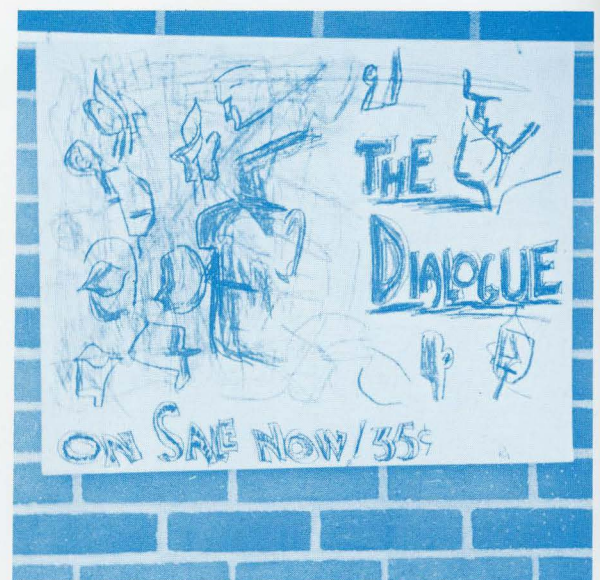

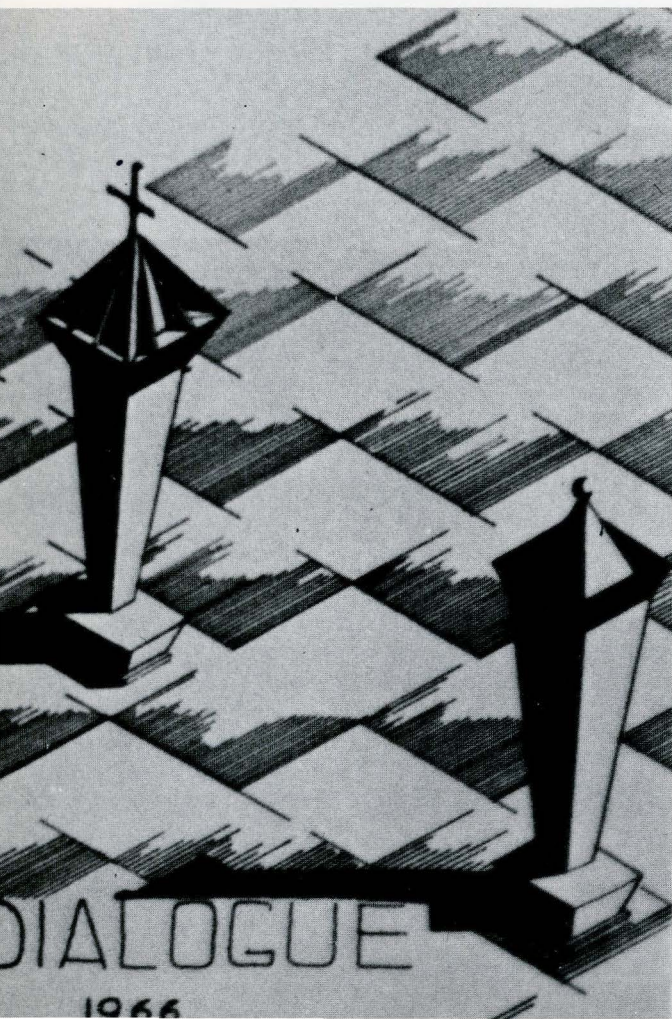

Winter term Dialogue Editor was Barbara Jansienki.

Fall term Dialogue Editor was Roger Moore.

DIALOGUE

The Dialogue is Delta's literary magazine. The entire student body is asked to submit material and the articles printed are discussed and critiqued by the Dialogue staff. Anyone can be active on the staff. Selection of material for publication in the Dialogue is selected by a four-person editorial board and a three-person art board.

Rodney Merten, Collegiate Advertising Manager.

Jovita Cooley, six-year-old American Indian, was "adopted" this year by the Delta Collegiate. Money for her support has been earned by Christmas candy and candle sales and a finals week "Don't Hit The Books; Hit The Car" event. Rodney Merten, Collegiate Advertising Manager was chairman of the Jovita fund.

The Delta Vets Association's event of the year was the Christmas Interlude. This was the dance at which Patricia Doll was chosen Miss Delta 1967.

Unsuspected talent was uncovered at Pazzazz I and Pazzazz II. Individual and group presentations of vocal and instrumental music, poetry readings and drama combined to delight Standing Room Only audiences at both events. Sponsored by G.D.I., the success of the activity indicated that it will be repeated next year.

Barbara Jewell was chairman for the Pazzazzes and their organization and public acceptance were due in no small measure to her ability and dedication to the job.

PAZZAZZ

There is always a fresh approach if one can only find a new angle. At left is a view of the Delta Television transmitting antenna from below.

Entrants in the pie-eating contest approached the objective with enthusiastic anticipation. As the activity progressed the smiles grew somewhat sickly. Satiety set in.

Winter brought hazards to Delta. There was so much snow that maintenance crews, working around the clock, could not keep up with it. A Collegiate staffer sprained his ankle skiing and Delta was closed because of weather for the first time in its history.

As the Gnosis went to press the weather had not become quite warm enough for this activity. However, the ice was out of the pond, the fountain was misting with promise, the grass was green and the blossoming shrubs were lush with bloom.

Delta Publications now have given complete coverage of all angles . . . at least of the head of Student Activities Director Mr. Stephen Konowalow.

It's rumored that Mrs. Hall can fix anything!

This picture may be a slight exaggeration but the sincere attitude with which Mrs. Hall helps Delta students is appreciated by all. As days roll on, our nurse continually extends her warm invitation to Delta students to come in to say hello or to have a short chat.

Electronic Technology 29I students, Dennis Dowling and Tom Enszer, look over a complicated amplifier circuit. Both Dennis and Tom are student instructors in the Electronics Lab. E.T. 29I is designed to give electronics students an opportunity to pursue their particular interest in the subject. As registration in electronics continues to grow, the 29I course is used more and more to fulfill its purpose.

GRADUATION

308 Receive Degrees

Three hundred eight Delta students received associates degrees at Commencement exercises in the gymnasium Sunday, April 30. President Donald J. Carlyon conferred the degrees on the candidates presented by Academic Dean William J. Yankee. Dr. Louis Doll assisted in the presentation.

McNight, below center, went the Board of Trustees Outstanding Scholar Award for highest grade point average in the Summer and Winter semester graduates, respectively. Daniel C. Strausberg, below right, was winner of the Dow Chemical Distinguished Student Science Award.

Dr. Leroy Augenstein, member of the Michigan Board of Education and Chairman of the Biophysics Department of Michigan State University gave the Commencement address, entitled, "Who Am I?"

Music was provided by Dr. F. T. Meisel at the organ and by the Delta Choir under the direction of Mr. Loren Cady.
